

RetirementLifeToday.com Launches Website For Retirees and Baby Boomers

LAKE ST. LOUIS, MO, November 3, 2005 / - - RetirementLifeToday.com LLC announced today the launch of its website at www.RetirementLifeToday.com.

“RetirementLifeToday.com LLC has been formed to be the premier online provider of news, retirement lifestyle, health, recreation, and financial information for retirees, seniors, the “baby boomer” generation, and anyone else interested in learning more about retirement-related information. Our focus is not only on providing timely information, but on providing an interactive community where baby boomers, seniors and retirees are free to explore their personal interests and hobbies, exchange ideas, and are encouraged to contribute thoughts and articles to the RetirementLifeToday.com community,” said Kelly Lantz, President of RetirementLifeToday.com LLC.

In addition to providing retirement information, RetirementLifeToday.com also provides up-to-the-minute news, sports, entertainment and business stories, a wide range of nationally-syndicated columnists (such as Dear Abby), daily electronic crossword puzzles, reviews for over 5,500 movies (including new movies and movies just released on DVD), book reviews, and the ability for users to look up current stock quotes and create their own stock portfolio. Also included are special sections on grandparenting, RV lifestyle, retirement communities, shopping, and best price advice for making purchases.

“The focus of RetirementLifeToday.com is centered on an interactive community,” explained Ms. Lantz. “We want users to actively participate in the community. We believe that everyone has unique talents to contribute.”

RetirementLifeToday.com also provides discussion boards where members can discuss a variety of issues – such as lifestyle issues, the new regulations concerning Medicare D insurance, health matters, and best places to retire. Additionally, RetirementLifeToday.com provides information on charitable organizations for users who are interested in volunteering time or making contributions to worthwhile causes.

Membership is free and is open to anyone interested; being retired is not a requirement.
